

4 DAYS of Unforgettable Flight

The 2003 Vectren Dayton Air Show presented by Kroger will feature an unparalleled program of flying exhibitions and ground display aircraft. The program will include representative aircraft by era, category and type that have significantly contributed to aviation progress during the first century of manned-powered flight.

THE BIRTH OF AVIATION INTERACTIVE EXHIBIT

The centerpiece display of the Air Show will be a one-of-a-kind 20,000 square foot exhibit that will tell the story of the Wright Brothers™, the invention of the first practical airplane and Dayton's pivotal role in this historic endeavor.

The story will be presented in an interactive, walk-through timeline, stretching from Wilbur™ and Orville's™ first childhood interest in aviation (1878) through the restoration of the 1905 Wright Flyer III. The exhibit will include, for the first time ever, all six of the experimental aircraft that the Wright Brothers built between 1899 and 1905 along with artifacts, interpretive displays and live demonstrations.
